PENICILLINES.

Thanksgiving Thursday. Splendid turkey weather this. Chattanooga is recovering from an attack of epilepsy.

The market was almost frozen out yesterday morning.

The sun shone out bright yesterday, but hadn't much effect.

The new pipe organ at Church street church was universally admired Sunday.

They had ice a-half inch thick in Chattanooga last Friday, according to the Times.

The Detroit Free Press remarks that "if the coming winter is as hard as prophets foretell, we will have a solid North."

The Cumberland Presbyterian church of Greeneville is to be dedicated the first Sunday in December, Rev. J. B. Dobson, officiating.

The old flag pond was covered with a thin coating of ice yesterday. A little longer continuance of such a spell would render it skatable.

The final service of the week of prayer, observed by the Young Men's Christian association, was held at the First Baptist church, Sunday evening, conducted by Mr. J. A. Ray.

To-day and to-morrow the housewives will do their Thanksgiving marketing. We advise them to consult the CHRONICLE local advertisements and they will find it to their advantage.

The track hands of the Knoxville and Augusta railroad commenced yesterday putting down new cross-ties and making improvements on the road bed near the rolling mill, which have been badly needed.

Many preachers seek to impress their hearers with the fact that life is short, but forget it in their sermons. It might be not much to add, however, that as a rule this does not apply to Knoxville pastors.

From the Greeneville New Era we learn that Mr. A. W. Walker has tendered his resignation as clerk and master of the chancery court at Greeneville, and Mr. Wm. A. Allen has been appointed as his successor.

Messrs. Scarborough & Earnest, proprietors of the "Elastic roof paint," put men to work yesterday painting anew the roof of the market house. There are a number of other public as well as private buildings about the city that would be much improved by a coating of this substantial paint.

This is rough weather on the private water works. The pipe which carries water to the jail, from Scott's tank, running on top of the ground, was frozen till it burst yesterday morning. The pipe from which the street sprinklers are supplied was boxed up and filled in with saw dust to prevent freezing.

FATHER WALSH AGAIN.

He Wants to Split Hairs With a Chronicle Reporter.

We do not desire a controversy with Father Walsh as to whether Dan Potter, who was hung a few days ago at Newport, was correctly reported in the CHRONICLE or not, and we will have none. He insists that our reporter misrepresented Potter, in stating that his last hours were spent in profanity and reckless talk about death and the future, and that he was a Catholic "while in the Knoxville jail." He admits, implicitly at least, that Potter was a Catholic from 5 p. m. the day previous to his death until 12:55 the next day, when he was hung, and is sure that he said nothing but the prayers for two hours and twenty-five minutes before he "swung." We have the utmost confidence in our reporter. We know he reported nothing of his own knowledge but what was strictly true, and what he wrote upon information, he had reason to believe was true. After all, when boiled down, the difference between our report and what Father Walsh does not deny is of too little consequence to justify a controversy. There is no doubt of Potter's reckless profanity, up to within at least a day or two of his execution. That he renounced his sins at 5 p. m. the day before he died on the gallows, and became a righteous man, Father Walsh has a right to believe. If he wants to insist that through his priestly offices Potter was absolved from all guilt in the sight of God, at precisely 5 p. m. on the day previous to his execution, and at that time obtained a free pass to Heaven over the shortest route, that is his right. We have no disposition to split hairs with him on theological questions, and however dogmatical he may be in his assumptions, we are determined that we will not. We respect his motives, but see no occasion for the retraction he so arbitrarily demands.

It is highly important that affections of the Throat, Lungs or Bronchial Tubes should be checked at once, and for this purpose nothing equals Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

Personal. Judge George Brown returned Sunday morning from Washington, where he went to argue an important railroad case in the United States supreme court.

Capt. John G. Heap and Mr. Will Clapp, of Bakersville, N. C., were in the city and gave the CHRONICLE a call yesterday.

Rev. J. F. Spence, D. D., president of the East Tennessee Wesleyan university, at Athens, went down on yesterday's train.

Mr. B. R. Strong returned yesterday from spending Sunday up the country. Capt. M. K. Benson and Mr. E. B. Miner, of Sweetwater, were in the city yesterday, registered at the Hattie house, and circulating among friends. They paid the CHRONICLE a pleasant call.

Maj. D. A. Carpenter, president of the Knoxville and Cincinnati Southern railroad, went west on yesterday's noon train on business.

Mrs. C. G. Block, of Nashville, formerly of Louisville, Ky., arrived in the city on yesterday evening's train and is stopping with her nephew, Mr. J. B. Hopkins. She is on her way to visit relatives at Bristol.

REV. HENRY ARMSTRONG: "I earnestly believe that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only infallible remedy in the world for that prevalent and distressing complaint 'Back Ache.'"

Marriages and Deaths at Greeneville. The Greeneville New Era of last week records a lengthy list of marriages and deaths. The marriages are as follows: At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lane, Thursday evening, Mr. Charles O. Fry, of Union, and Miss Mamie Kyle, of Christiansburg, Va.; also the same evening, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. O. B. Hendrick, by Rev. J. J. Manker, Mr. N. T. Howard and Miss Lottie Hendrick; also at the residence of the bride's father, in the country, by Rev. W. S. Doak, Mr. James Fox and Miss Temperance Leming. On Sunday, 14th inst., in Greeneville, by Rev. A. W. Howard, Mr. Frank Fry and Miss Violet Smith.

The deaths mentioned are, Mrs. Jane Galbraith, mother of J. A. Galbraith, at her residence four miles north of Greeneville, the 14th inst. The 17th inst., Mrs. Hendrick, relict of the late E. W. Hendrick; Saturday, 15th inst., Wm. P. Hankins. Tuesday, 16th inst., Cora B., infant daughter of Rev. R. D. and Mary A. Park. The same day Uncle Simon Cobb, colored. At Bristol, 16th inst., Miss Lella, daughter of Isaac A. Allen, of Greene county.

From Sunday's Second Edition. Macbeth.

The opera house was crammed and jammed, the occasion being the last appearance of the Janauschek in the city and in Macbeth. Everybody and all his relatives was there, and floor and gallery were filled to overflowing. The play was given in a style for which this company is noted. Madame Janauschek as Lady Macbeth was grand. Her finished stage manners, her total lack of all rant and florid acting, and the terrible intensity which she threw into her stronger lines were simply grand and received all the praises of the vast audience.

The Macbeth while in the main very good did not seem to comprehend fully the spirit of his character and was too often led into the fatal error of mistaking lungs for passion and timor for feeling. In several places he was warmly applauded. Macduff—well our criticism of him is that he wore a beautiful costume. The make up of the three weird sisters was excellent and as specimens of the grotesquely ugly they were successful.

The combination is a fine one and have afforded the the Knoxville people a brief season of amusement and instruction unparalleled in the history of our boards. When they come again they shall be warmly welcomed. We desire once more to express our disapprobation of the conduct of the "gods." Last night we were sorry to see that our uniformed lads were not wholly guileless. If they knew how much they injured themselves by such behavior they would "go and sin no more."

The New Church street Organ. After two days of skillful work, Mr. T. Cadwallader, the representative of the manufacturers, succeeded yesterday in getting the new pipe organ for Church street M. E. church, south, in position and in tune, for service. The organ is manufactured by the well known and long established house of E. & G. G. Hook & Hastings, Boston, Mass. This house has been established for over fifty years and have a reputation second to none in the country. They were builders of the celebrated music hall organ in Cincinnati.

This one for Church street church, is one of the latest improved and most modern patterns, put up with remarkable skill and substantiality, and is warranted to give satisfaction. It is, indeed, a perfect beauty as to appearance. The case is made of very fine Kentucky walnut, finished off in high style of architecture. Its dimensions are sixteen feet deep, 11 feet wide and about 6½ feet high, and as it sits in the choir corner, to the left of the minister in the pulpit, it constitutes a splendid ornament to the room, the painting of the seventeen large pipes, which are visible in front, blends beautifully with the color of the walls and shows to fine effect. The organ has something over 500 pipes, seventeen stops, and all the latest improvements in pedals, swells, etc. When in the hands of a skillful performer it produced sweet and melodious and inspiring music. It has a powerful tone, which can be made to fill the room nicely.

The price was $1,500 but the organ committee, having the matter in charge, succeeded in procuring it for $1,275, cash down, which is certainly quite reasonable. This organ committee consisted of Leon Jourlmon, chairman, H. T. Ault, Albert VanGilder, Mrs. Lizzie Hicks and Mrs. Matt McClung. The scheme of procuring the organ was originated about one year ago. The committee went to work with a will. In their efforts they were ably seconded by Rev. G. C. Rankin, the zealous and devoted pastor, as well as other members of the church. The funds were raised by various methods, and the committee deserves much credit for the success which has crowned their labor. They have provided their church with the finest organ in the city, which will be a very valuable addition in that very essential feature of church worship, good music.

Mr. Albert Van Gilder is the performer. The choir of this church comprises some of the best vocal talent in the city, and when they get thoroughly organized and trained to their new instrument they will be able to furnish some excellent music.

W. P. Clarke, Esq., 920 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and found it to be the best remedy I ever tried."

Yesterday's Races. There was a larger crowd in attendance upon the races at the fair ground track yesterday than the day before, and some good running was witnessed. The principal race, mile dash, was won by Jones' "Grits." Mabry won the race for two-year olds, and Sales the half mile race. The pacing race was won by the Reeder horse, "Dan."

"The Obligations Under Which the English Language is to the German." Prof. Joyous is to lecture on the above subject next Thursday (Thanksgiving day) in the basement of the Lutheran church. The great attention which the German language is now receiving in this country makes the above doubly interesting, and if a life-long study qualifies a man to speak on it, Prof. Joyous is certainly qualified to speak on this. The admission is 25 cents, and is to assist in replacing by a new one an old organ which has been in faithful service ever since the war, more or less. Tickets at Kern's store. nov21-3t

Death of Ganum McBee. Ganum McBee, Esq., died Sunday, 21st inst., at his residence near Strawberry Plains, after an illness of near two months, at the advanced age of 91 years, 6 months and two days. Mr. McBee was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of this part of the country. He lived the whole of his life on the place where he died. There he accumulated an ample competence of this world's goods, and was for many years a member of the mercantile firm of G. C. & R. L. McBee, of the Plains. But, better than all this, he earned a reputation for honesty, fair dealing and uprightness, which has followed him to the grave, and will be reflected along the line of his genealogy for ages to come. He certainly ran his race well. His death was the result of a general wearing out and break down of the machinery of nature, and it can be truthfully said a good man is gone. He will be missed very much in the community in which he spent a life almost a century in length. The remains were interred yesterday evening in the family burying ground.

CHARLES HARTMAN, Toledo, Ohio, says: "I know it cured me, and I hope others similarly troubled with pain in the chest may be helped by the 'ONLY LUNG PAD' as I have.—See ady."

The Johnson City Narrow Gauge. Mr. George T. Mills, of Philadelphia, Pa., one of the contractors for the construction of the Johnson City narrow gauge railroad, was in the city yesterday, registered at the Hattie House. Mr. Mills is a very pleasant and also an excellent business man, one who it is a pleasure to meet and have transactions with. He was making some extensive purchases, and has already expended large amounts of money here. The contractors of this road draw most all their supplies from Knoxville. They should and we have no doubt will be treated right by our business men.

Humbugged Again. I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did for in less than two months of use of the Bitters, my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging. J. T. Paul, Pioneer Press.

Marriage at Loudon. Special Dispatch to the Chronicle. LOUDON, Nov. 20. Your genial young friend Mr. Jas P. Reeder, was married here this evening to Miss Kate I. Howard, of Athens, Tennessee, Rev. E. A. Ramsey performing the ceremony. The happy couple will remain with friends here to-morrow and leave for their home in Knoxville, Monday afternoon. E. P. McQ.

We extend hearty congratulations to friend Jim on the happy event which will no doubt take his Knoxville friends by surprise, and tender him and his fair bride a cordial welcome, on their arrival.

A Down-town Merchant. Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, I ordered a supply for the child. On reaching home and administering his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of homeopathy. That night the child passed its suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and, while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and, although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering, crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

Do You Want Health? Why will you die? Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the "courses," Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous centres, improving the blood, and eradicating directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent physicians use it. Prepared by Dr. J. Bradfield, Atlanta, Ga. $1.50 per bottle.
